

The government approves the strategy for renewable energies

Monday, 23 May 2011 14:45

The Council of Ministers on Tuesday approved a plan for the development of new forms of energy from renewable sources. The strategy adopted should be implemented over the period 2011-2025, over these 14 years it will further be spread the use of renewable sources such as photovoltaic systems for generating electricity used for lighting and the heating also in the villages. It is also provided a feasibility study for the supply of marine energy.